Author from Iowa to Be Main Speaker of Week

Dr. Marcus Bach, professor in the School of Religion, University of Iowa, will be the main speaker for Religious Emphasis Week, to be observed on the campus March 2 to 6, according to Dr. J. Gordon Strong.

Dr. Bach is widely known as a speaker, author, and interpreter of American faiths, particularly those which are contemporary and less well known in the religious culture of this nation.

He is the author of seven books, the most recent of which is entitled "The Circle of Faith," a story of his meeting with several of the world's great personalities, including Albert Schweitzer.

School Programs For Coming Week Feature Religion

Programs for Religious Emphasis Week were announced last week by Rose Mary Meyer, co-chairman of the program committee. They are as follows:

Dr. Marcus Bach will speak at the supper to be held Sunday evening in the Union. His subject will be "The Will to Believe," which is the theme for the week's observance. Dr. J. Gordon Strong will preside at the supper.

At the opening assembly at 10 a.m., Monday, Dr. Bach's subject will be "The Second Mile." Jerry Overton, student body president, will preside at the assembly.

Gloria McConkey will preside at the second general assembly, to be held at 2 p.m. Tuesday. Dr. Bach will speak on "The Gospel of the Quest" at that time.

Administrators Fly To Jefferson City To Meet Senators

Dr. J. W. Jones, president of the College, Dr. Charles Koerble, dean of faculty, and Robert Foster, registrar, flew to Jefferson City Monday morning for a 2 p.m. meeting with the Missouri Senate committee on appropriations.

The three talked about the funds to be allocated for the next fiscal year.

Dr. Jones, who had requested a total of $1,106,292 in general revenue and state college funds, said he was satisfied with the governor's budget proposal for $963,000 from General Revenue and $93,500 from state college funds, a total of $1,056,500.

The three college faculty men returned Monday night.

Officials Attend Meeting in Chicago

Three Northwest State College officials attended the annual meeting of the American Association of Colleges for Teachers Education held Thursday through Saturday at Conrad Hilton, Chicago, Ill.

They include Dr. J. W. Jones, president; Dr. Charles E. Koerble, dean of faculty; and Dr. Leon F. Miller, chairman of the education department. Dr. Miller also attended the conference of directors of student teaching held in conjunction with the meeting.

The session considered new approaches to the teacher education curriculum.

Dr. Marcus Bach

Dr. Bach is responsible for developing a new approach to inter-religious relations. He gathered his information on the various religions by living among the people in an effort to appreciate their point of view through their own experiences.

Father Arnold Blaes, of the Conception Seminary, Conception, will speak to the students on Thursday.

Studied in Canada

Father Blaes took his undergraduate college work at Conception Seminary. He did post-graduate work at the University of Montreal and McGill University of Montreal, Quebec, Canada.

The Rev. Blaes is now professor of Philosophy and Dean of Men at the Seminary.

Mrs. Paul Carroll of Kansas City will be present for conferences and talks on topics related to love, courtship, and marriage problems for youth.

Senate, Merchants Sponsor Work Pool

Students desiring work off campus now have a means of contact with possible employers.

Members of the Student Senate, in cooperation with the merchants of Maryville, are sponsoring a work pool.

By filling out the application blank on page two, students may have their names put on file in the Senate office. Merchants seeking student help will contact the office, and the student qualifying for the job will be placed.

Applications must be filed in the Senate office on the second floor of the Administration building by Wednesday, March 5.

Seven Wonders' Will Be Viewed On Trip to City

Students wishing to see cinema will have their chance on Saturday, March 15. An excursion to Kansas City to see Lowell Thomas's production of "The Seven Wonders of the World" will be made at that time.

All students are invited to take advantage of the opportunity. The approximate cost, including transportation and the cost of the ticket, will be $3.75. However, if a large number of students go, the transportation cost will be less. A refund will be made in such a case.

Reservations should be made at the Union office on or before Friday, March 7. Students should be ready to pay for the trip at that time.

Marine Corps Officers To Be Here, March 5-6

Captain H. E. Cottrell and the U. S. Marine Corps officer procurement team will be on campus Wednesday and Thursday, March 5 and 6 to discuss Marine officer training programs with interested students. The team will be in the Bearcat Den.

Seniors are eligible for the officer candidate course after graduation.

Men commissioned under either program may go directly into flight training or training in other specialized fields.

Work Progresses For New Heating In Main Building

Installation of the new heating facilities is now complete in the east half of the Administration building.

Mr. Earl Sandusky, of the Industrial Heating and Plumbing Co., is in charge of installing the new steam radiators. He reports that the west section of the building should be completed in three to four weeks.

To Assure Comfort

Individual control is one of the important features of the new radiators. To assure constant comfortable temperatures all the units will be part of six different zones. These zones will be controlled thermostatically within a pre-determined range.

Multi-flow heating units, such as the new radiators are, dissipate heat with the circulation of air. The circular travel of air through the copper coils with aluminum fins allows a much more even distribution of heat. Approximately thirty seconds is required for the new units to reach the desired temperature, according to Mr. Sandusky. This speed contrasts greatly with that of the old radiators.

Appreciates Cooperation

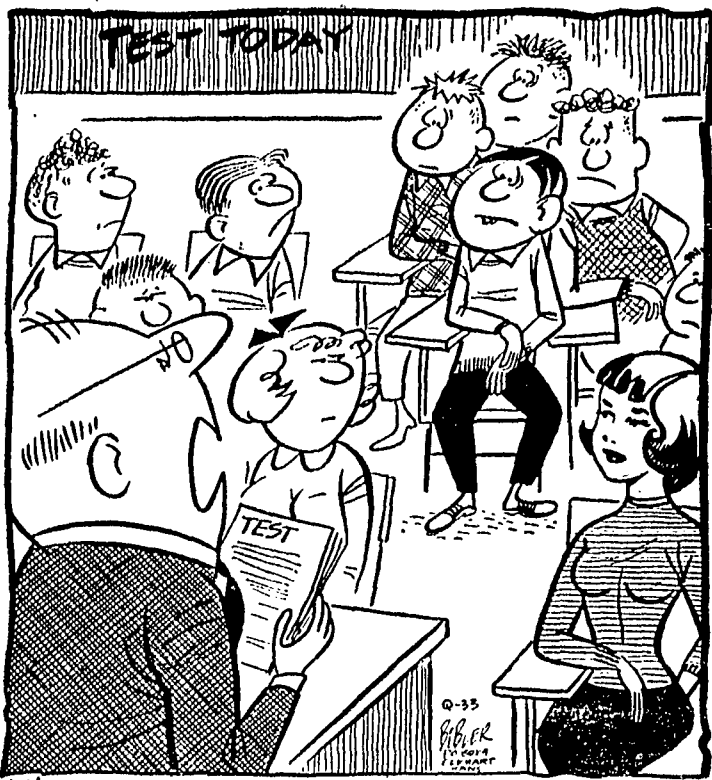

Mr. Sandusky is grateful to the faculty for the cooperation his men have received while working in the classrooms and around the building.

As the new heating units are installed, the old ones are being dismantled and taken out of the building. It is interesting to note that roughly 21 tons of iron will be carried away in the process. The new units are about ten times lighter, says Mr. Sandusky.

College Alumnus Seeks Prospective Teachers

Buford Garner, class of 1939, was on the campus recently looking for prospective teachers for his school system in Iowa City.

Mr. Garner says that two former students of the college who are now teaching in the Iowa City schools are doing very well. They are Norbert Myer, who is teaching mathematics in the high school and coaching in the junior high school, and Ralph Duncan, who is teaching industrial arts in the high school.

"The Will to Believe" ...

Religious Emphasis Week, an annual event on the campus of Northwest Missouri State College, will be observed the week of March 26. This is the one week of the school year in which the college devotes its extra-curricular time to programs and assemblies on religious themes.

"The Will to Believe," this year's theme, was proposed by Dr. Marcus Bach, who will be the main speaker throughout the week. Dr. Bach has written several books on religion, and if they are any indication of his talent, a real treat is in store. Dr. Bach's theme is one to make one wonder what its meaning is. Does one have to WILL to believe?

They're Talking About ...

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT ... the Tower Queen ...

One among four who entered the door,
One who remained alone on the floor.
One chosen whose portrait appeared on a stand,
One reigning this week who deserves a fine hand,
One not to exclude the other top three
From sharing the spotlight of publicity,
One still excited on being elected,
One not knowing it was what we suspected.

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT ... how gay was the time that started at nine (officially, anyway); how pre-parties ran into after-parties with in-between-parties thrown in; how old Jim Beam made it up for the weekend; and how grand was the band on a one-night stand—a memorable Tower Ball.

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT ... water ski sales losing out to the ice skate boom down South; the Great Plains area demanding that Congress return the snow that was mistakenly dumped on Washington; and at this writing, nary a flake to be seen in Anchorage, Alaska, since the day after Christmas ... Mice, key to the economy (according to Pogo).

THEY'RE TALKING ABOUT ... Saint Clare, newly proclaimed patron saint of television ... words of defiant Princeton individualists in the Feb. 17th issue of LIFE; thoughts to surprise some unseeing eyes in "The 'Unsilent Generation' Breaks Silence" ... solitude: something (when available) people don't know what to do with anymore—except to avoid it.

THE COLLEGE OATH

"We will never bring disgrace to this, our College, by any act of cowardice or dishonesty. We will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the College. We will revere and obey the College laws and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others. We will transmit this College to those who come after us, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us."

Campus Reith's

This week is the fifth week of the spring semester. Unlike other "fifths," it has an unhappy atmosphere. It marks the time in N. W. M. S. C. when the teachers begin to limber up their fingers to mark low grades on the tests they usually give this time of the year.

By the fifth week the excitement of a person's new classes is over and school falls back into the same, all too familiar routine.

Little do the teachers know it, but they are actually breaking romances and students' hearts when they give out those long assignments. Students have to work so hard that they have to cut down their social activities and, therefore, dates must be broken and new love will be smothered before it starts.

Many people tell students to study until eleven and twelve at night so that they may get the full benefit of school. But do not be fooled. The people who advocate late studying hours are only seeking to make more money for themselves. These people have stocks in the light companies, and every hour at night a student studies, a light will be burning and putting money in the pockets of these people who try to talk students into studying at nights.

Nevertheless, some parts of school are all right. A recent survey on the different types of classes revealed that 85 per cent of the students like lecture classes better than any other form of classes.

It is plain to see why this type of class is popular. It is very easy to sleep in a lecture class. Only the professor speaks, and one is not awakened by any of his neighbors when they recite.

Dr. Berndt Angman has said, "A lecture is merely the passing of information from the teachers' notes to the students' notes without going through the head of either."

While you are taking a break from your overload of studies think on this. By the way, this might be a question on the physics test to be given next week. Do you know what a happy hypothesis is? No? Well, it is a cheery theory.

Fenwick Babbit again leaves us with his thoughts on education: "The main trouble with school is that it just breaks up your day."

Tommy Tomcat Is Visitor at Dorm

Tommy Tomcat—twice removed cousin of Bobby Bearcat—has been a loyal visitor to Residence Hall for the past several months.

Tommy, a sleek, wise-looking tom-cat, makes his regular entry each evening after supper, struts proudly up the entry stairs to take his accustomed place in the main lobby of Residence Hall, and promptly at 10:00 p.m., closing time, makes his exit with the rest of the male visitors.

According to one sincere student, "Residence Hall just wouldn't seem the same if good old Tommy weren't here to greet us with a wise, intelligent-looking blink of approval, or disapproval as the case may be."

More Than 300 Belong

A new course in plane surveying was introduced in the Industrial Arts Division second semester. It is especially for the engineering students who are meeting the requirements of the 3-2 Plan for engineering, and who are planning to transfer to the Rolla School of Mines or to the University of Missouri.

Surveyor Teaches Course

The course is being taught by Mr. Martin Bird who is a registered surveyor in Missouri. The students are using new surveying equipment which consists of eight levels and four new transits and other necessary surveying instructional material.

Bearcats Lose Season Finale

By J. Gwynn Howard
Possessive as a dog with his bone, the Kirksville Bulldogs controlled the basketball in such a way that the Maryville Bearcats were unable to score for occasional five-minute stretches, on the Bearcat home court. The visiting canines were finally able to go home with a 62-49 Monday night victory.

By winning both teams' final game of the season, Kirksville maintained strong hold on the runner-up spot in the M.I.A.A. conference, ranking behind once beaten Springfield. The loss dropped the Bearcats deeper into the cellar, where they have now finished for the second year in a row.

'Cats Score Five in Ten
Humid atmosphere in the gymnasium failed to demoralize the determined Bulldogs as they filled the air with their paws on defense, allowing the Bearcats only 5 points in ten and a half minutes. In the meantime, the Kirksville quintet had gained an initial 20-5 lead.

Jackson rebounded for Maryville in true Bearcat fashion, collecting five points in the first half. However, the Bulldogs always had at least three height mates on the court to give 'Cat Jackson a hard go for the bacon.

Weathersby Leads Bulldogs
Tree-top average in altitude could have been used to great advantage by Maryville, as the Bulldogs simply did not have to step into the 'Cats' den to hit. Kirksville freshman, Weathersby, led the visitors with a first half total of 12 points.

The smaller Bearcats did an excellent job of jamming the middle, but the Bulldogs simply voiced their disapproval of locking in combat by effectively shooting from outside. By halftime, the rangy Kirksville quint had bulled its way to a 38-20 advantage.

Jackson Opens Second Half
Leland Jackson scored the first four tallies for Maryville in the second half. The rangy 'Cat center continued to lead his team throughout the game, as he collected 22 points besides a lion's share of the rebounds. Yet, the failure of the Bearcats to get off to a high scoring first quarter start provided the fatal gap of the contest.

Sharpshooting for the Kirksville team deteriorated considerably in the second half. Yet, 6'6" George Doss kept the Bulldogs' supply of bacon out of danger with his rebounding. Bulldog reserves lasted out the waning minutes of the game, as they proved to be masters of the Bearcat den.

Aristocats Provide Show
During the intermission, the Sambo Trotters and the Aristocats gave the audience a doubtfully professional exhibition on the court. Though the game was played with a basketball, one would hesitate to say whether a single wing or double post was more effective.

Butch Miller led the 'Cats to a 3-0 victory over Jerry Overton's Trotters. Then both teams took to the road after the brawl to terminate their road show in St. Joseph, probably the Hilltop.
